

SCHOOL NEWS..... Natasha Mucho-Seay

(English, Language Arts)

This month has been brutally frigid, but that doesn't mean our students have been hibernating. They have been preparing for several academic competitions coming up in the next couple of weeks: Social Studies Fair, Fayette County Young Writers, and the National Geography Bee. Good luck to all of them as they strive to do their best!

Besides academics, students have a couple of community service projects coming up. They will be collecting trash around the school and local communities and visiting those in the nursing home. At the nursing home, we will be distributing socks we will have collected from our "sock hop" and delivering homemade cards.

Catholic Schools' Week will soon be upon us the last week of January, and we have several events planned commemorating what Catholic schools are all about. Learn. Serve. Lead. Succeed. That is this year's theme and our students embody that message. Dr. Seuss once said, "The more that you read, the more things you will know, the more that you learn, the more places you will go." Our students are going places, and they are taking Christ's message with them. Let us continue to pray for them and encourage them to learn, serve, lead, and succeed in all that they do.
